Abstract

An abstract is a concise summary of the whole paper, not just the conclusions. It should clearly state the importance of the work and be understandable without reference to the rest of the manuscript.

The abstract should include:

- an introduction to the work,
- background of the problem,
- a summary of the main results,
- implications of the results,
- a broader perspective understandable across disciplines.

The abstract must not exceed 300 words and should not contain citations.
